

We Can Change the World

By Teresa Ellis

We can change the world
Including what we say
Not the type of words we speak
Just to get our way

We can change the world
By sharing all our dreams
Choosing a future full of hope
No matter how hard it seems

Even if you're different
And small, somewhat like me
Knowing you're God's masterpiece
Is the key to set you free

God gave me a gift to write
To create both story and rhyme
My words have power to inspire
And change lives over time

You too can change the world
If you're looking for a clue
Maybe God gave you a gift
In little things you do

From the smallest of actions
To the biggest needs you see
Everyone you smile at
How happy they will be

When we help the elderly
We are filled with joys
Even if it gets forgotten
It changes us girls and boys

I share these things so you can know
So important was your birth!
When we use our God-given gifts
We will change the earth

About the Author

Teresa Ellis is 8 years old and lives in Sevierville, Tennessee with her two sisters, her parents, and three dogs.