

United

By Roxana Rinderkatz

One crumb can change a small duck's day, but many would be so much better

One firefly can glow in the dark, but more would bring brighter light

One person acting kindly can change a day, but united, our kindness can change the world

We are smart and we are sweet

We are helpful and we are kind

We are together as one, a force of greatness

Together we can make a difference

About the Author

Roxana Rinderkatz is in fourth grade and currently attends Laurence School. She has a younger brother and two boy cousins that she is very close with. She is surrounded by sports games and matches of all sorts. Participating in and watching these high-intensity activities is inspiring her to bring emotions into her writing in a way that she has never done before. In addition to writing, Roxana enjoys sports, biking, reading, and all crafts of all kinds.
